

Are you currently suffering from symptoms of a urinary tract infection (UTI)?

If you are a female aged 16-64 and suffering from symptoms of a UTI, there's a new pharmacy service that could help you.

The symptoms include:

Pain passing urine

Needing to pass urine at night more than usual

Visible cloudy colour when passing urine

The pharmacist at your local community pharmacy* can now assess you and, if appropriate, provide an antibiotic to treat the infection.

This means you may not need to see your G.P.
Speak to your pharmacist first for advice and more information.

Visit NHS Choices at www.nhs.uk for more information on Urinary Tract Infections.

*Participating pharmacies only. Look out for this poster in pharmacies taking part.
